Celebrating Community Day in Elwood

Legislator Steve Stern joins neighbors, school faculty and students in day of activities

Suffolk County Legislator Steve Stern, New York State Assemblyman Chad Lupinacci and Huntington Town Board member Gene Cook take part in a taste-testing competition during Elwood Community Day.

HUNTINGTON, NY – Suffolk County Legislator Steve Stern (D-Huntington, 16th L.D.) joined Elwood Community Day for a day of fun in the sun at Elwood-John Glenn High School.

Spearheaded by the Elwood School District and its Board of Education, Elwood Community Day celebrates Elwood and brings together fellow neighbors through family-friendly activities, games and sports.

Legislator Stern joined in the fun, which included performances, art exhibits, softball, lacrosse and even an amateur “Iron Chef” inspired taste-testing competition made up of student, teacher and school faculty members. Legislator Stern also introduced Rosemarie Kluepfel, an Elwood resident, who was recognized by her community for being named the “Suffolk County Woman of Distinction” for her volunteer efforts to help veterans in need.

“It’s always a great day when a community comes together to celebrate home-town pride,” Legislator Stern said. “I am very proud to represent the Elwood community in the 16th Legislative District and days like today make it easy to see why.”
